

Halima Widi Liman is being nominated for the Africa IT Personality Award in recognition of her outstanding leadership in ICT innovation, public sector digitization, and governance transformation within Nigeria's digital ecosystem. Through her role at NITDA, she has contributed significantly to strengthening transparency, accountability, and operational efficiency using ICT-driven approaches within the internal audit function. Her forward-thinking adoption of emerging technologies, particularly in AI-assisted auditing and digital compliance enhancement, demonstrates her commitment to aligning governance frameworks with modern technology standards. Halima has consistently pursued excellence through continuous professional development, earning multiple certifications in Quality Management Systems, Information Security Management, Responsible AI, and Generative AI-driven solutions. These achievements reflect not only technical competence but also a strong commitment to ethical technology adoption and sustainable digital transformation. She is part of a new generation of African ICT professionals championing innovation, governance, and trust in public technology institutions. Her work embodies integrity, professionalism, and strategic foresight—qualities that directly support Africa's digital growth narrative. She represents the rising female leadership voice in ICT across the continent and serves as a role model for young women stepping into technology governance and public sector innovation.
