Sherif El-Kassas

El-Kassas is the founder and principle of KassasConsulting—a leading provider of Cyber and Information Security consulting services since June, 2000.

El-Kassas is also Professor of Computer Science and Engineering at the American University in Cairo.

El-Kassas' research interests are focused on Security Engineering, the application of formal methods in Software engineering and Computer Security, and Open Source technologies.

El-Kassas (via KassasConsulting) has served as consultant for various organizations both locally and internationally; is Member of the board of Information Technology Industry Development Agency (ITIDA); Member of the board of trustees of the Egyptian e-signature center of excellence; Founding member of Internet Masr (Egyptian chapter of Internet society); Founding partner and founding CTO of SecureMisr (leading Egyptian Information Security services provider—recently acquired by Cysiv, a Trend Micro Group Company); and Member of various professional computing societies.

El-Kassas received his Ph.D. from the Eindhoven University of technology in the Netherlands.